Message from the President

With scholarship assistance, access to higher education is within every student's reach. Generous support from FAU alumni, friends, foundations and businesses provides opportunities for personal and professional growth to those who are part of the University's diverse and growing student body.

By funding scholarships and fellowships such as those listed in the pages that follow, donors have made it possible for students to begin pursuing their degrees as undergraduates and to further their studies in graduate school. Last year more than $1 million in scholarships was awarded through the FAU Foundation, all thanks to the generosity of private donors whom we proudly recognize in this booklet.

About FAU

Ranked as one of the fastest growing universities in the nation, Florida Atlantic University has an enrollment that has grown from an original class of 850 students in September 1964 to more than 26,000 students today. FAU was chartered in 1961, becoming the fifth public university in Florida. Throughout the University's short history, more than 90,000 men and women have earned degrees and claim FAU as their alma mater.

Originally established as an upper division and graduate university, FAU accepted its first freshman class in 1984. The University is now home to eight colleges: the College of Architecture, Urban and Public Affairs; the Dorothy F. Schmidt College of Arts and Letters; the College of Business; the College of Education; the College of Engineering and Computer Science; the Harriet L. Wilkes Honors College; the Christine E. Lynn College of Nursing; and the Charles E. Schmidt College of Science. The University additionally provides older adults with educational opportunities through the unique Lifelong Learning Society, one of the largest programs of its kind in the country. FAU has developed an on-line curriculum to provide degree programs to students using the Internet anywhere in the world. A comprehensive research university, FAU offers undergraduate programs in 60 fields of study and master's degrees in 53 disciplines. The University confers 17 doctoral degrees ranging from a doctorate in nursing to a Ph.D. in ocean engineering.

Commercial Boulevard Campus

Davie Campus

With seven locations spanning a nearly 100-mile stretch on Florida's southeast coast, Florida Atlantic University counts access to educational opportunities as one of its most important goals. In addition to an 850-acre campus in Boca Raton, FAU campuses are located in Broward County at Fort Lauderdale, Davie and Dania Beach; in northern Palm Beach County at Jupiter; and in St. Lucie County at Port St. Lucie.

Although most FAU students are Florida residents, the University enrolls students from around the country and from nearly 150 foreign countries. FAU has also been very successful in recruiting qualified minority students, with African-American students totaling 16 percent of the student body and Hispanic students totaling 13 percent. On-campus housing is available for more than 2,100 students on the Boca Raton campus and for Honors College students on the John D. MacArthur Campus in Jupiter. The University provides an exciting environment for students with its more than 175 student organizations, NCAA Division I intercollegiate athletics and an active campus volunteer center. Faculty, staff and students have opportunities for direct involvement in community health clinics, economic development efforts and literacy programs.

Dedicated to teaching, research and public service, FAU has a significant economic impact on the South Florida community and is one of the area's largest employers with more than 4,500 full-and part-time employees. Nearly 1,500 scholars serve on FAU's faculty, including 12 who hold prestigious Eminent Scholar chairs. Sponsored research totaled more than $50 million for fiscal year 2004, including significant funding for FAU's ocean engineering, nursing and brain science programs.

How to Create a Scholarship

Creating a scholarship at FAU begins with the desire to help deserving students. Working with a development officer or the coordinator of scholarship and stewardship programs, a donor can design a scholarship that matches his or her goals and values. Listed below are the types of scholarships offered at FAU and other information useful to those planning to create a scholarship.

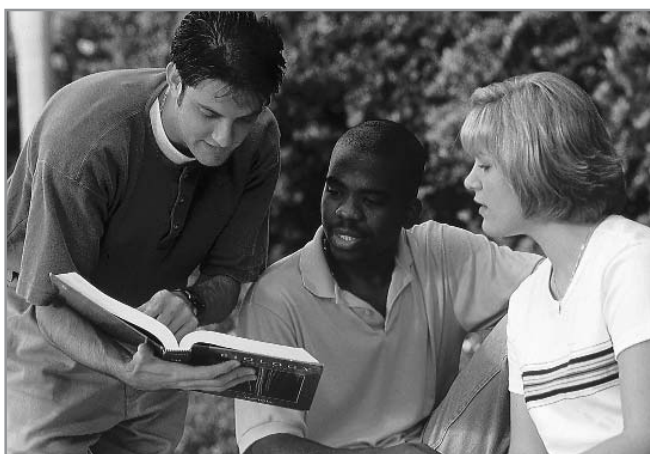

Endowed Scholarships – funds that exist in perpetuity and demonstrate a strong commitment to education. Named endowed scholarships require a minimum investment of $10,000. The principle of the account is never used and only the earnings are awarded as scholarships.

Non-Endowed Scholarships – funds that allow donors to establish scholarships that are awarded annually and directly from the donor's gift. Named non-endowed scholarships require a minimum investment of $5,000.

All donations that are not classified as a separately named endowed or non-endowed fund may be contributed to any existing named scholarship fund or to one of the many general scholarship funds housed in the FAU Foundation.

The FAU Foundation provides an extensive array of scholarship opportunities to benefit students. University development professionals work with donors to design a gift agreement for each scholarship fund. The gift agreement describes the donor's intent, any restrictions, the process to be used to award the scholarship and other pertinent information.

To create a scholarship at FAU, contact the coordinator of scholarship and stewardship programs in University Advancement at 561-297-0058.

Endowed Scholarships

Some of the criteria for these scholarships are presently under review and are subject to change at any time.

In some cases, a single scholarship may be awarded to multiple students. For more information, contact the coordinator of scholarship and stewardship programs in University Advancement at 561-297-0058.
