SUBJECT: Notification/Approval of Online Programs to SACSCOC

Recent changes in SACSCOC policy require institutions to notify the accrediting body as programs move to online completion possibility. Effectively immediately, programs must work with the Provost's Office and the Center for Online and Continuing Education (COCE) to comply.

Programs that are already approved and in existence at FAU as face-to-face delivery programs will simply require a notification to SACSCOC by my office that the program will also be offered in an online delivery mode as well. Programs will need to work with COCE to become catalogued as such and to be added to the Registrar's inventory as an online degree program.

Degree programs that are brought forth as new programs never taught at FAU in any delivery mode will need to check with COCE or the Provost's Office on the process for seeking approval from SACSCOC. Programs requiring the approval cannot be offered until SACSCOC confirms such approval.

The list below is degree programs offered in an online platform that pre-date this policy and are exempt from the notification/approval described above.
