Change description to:

ART 4403C is oriented towards the development of the student from matriculated practitioner of Printmaking to independent artist. The class will be focused on honing the requisite research skills to investigate, propagate, and execute a suite of original Fine Art Prints. The course will have a specific set of initial prompts, readings, and discussions, which will then lead to an independent series of works that serve as a culminating project. Critiques and presentations, both formal and informal, will be employed throughout the semester.
