

Foundational Course Requirement for New Students

Attempting to complete a foreign language requirement or an Intellectual Foundations Program (IFP) mathematics requirement in the months before graduation can sometimes derail graduation plans. To stay on track to graduate, students must plan their course schedules to ensure that these and other foundational courses are taken early in their academic careers. To ensure that students are successful, Florida Atlantic University requires that all students, whether freshmen or transfer, complete the following courses within the prescribed timeframes after matriculation:

ENC 1101 (College Writing I)	Within first year
IFP Mathematics and Quantitative Reasoning Requirement (at least one course)	Within first year
Foreign Language Requirement	Within two years
Civic Literacy Requirement	Within two years

Some students may have completed one or more of these requirements before matriculation at FAU. Students should check their Degree Audit Report to see if these requirements have been met.
