Subject: RE: Request to list elective courses

Dear Mark,

The School of Criminology & Criminal Justice approves and supports the criminal justice electives listed below being a part of the Honors College Law and Society concentration.

Please let me know if you need anything further on this.

Best,
Wendy

Subject: Request to list elective courses

Dear Prof. Guastaferrero,

I was hoping that as Director of the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice you could provide a note of approval that the Honors College list some of your courses as electives for our Law and Society undergraduate concentration. Our students already take courses at other Colleges at FAU, but they must petition them to count as electives for their concentration. We always approve the courses listed below as they clearly fit into and enrich the Law and Society concentration. The UUPC has asked that we get department chair approval to list these as electives, so that petitions would no longer be needed. We typically have about 10-15 students concentrating in Law and Society any given year, and it would be unusual for more than one or a few students to enroll in any particular course listed below in any given semester. Please let me know if you have any questions, and thank you for considering this.

Social Work and Criminal Justice courses we would like to list as electives:

CCJ 2002 Law, Crime and Criminal Justice
CCJ 3014 Criminology
CCJ 4141 Restorative Community Justice
CCJ 4662 Race, Ethnicity and Criminal Justice
CCJ 4694 Human Trafficking
DSC 4012 Terrorism
CJE 4352 Policing in America

Sincerely,
Mark

Oh gosh I'm sorry - I was doing too much at once and just missed that completely.

Yes, I approve – that's fine.

Dear Dr. Trapani,

I was hoping that as department head of Philosophy you could provide a note of approval that the Honors College list PHM 3400 Philosophy of Law for our Law and Society concentration. Our students already take courses at other Colleges at FAU, but they must petition them to count as electives for their concentration. The UUPC has asked that we get department chair approval to list these as electives, so that petitions would no longer be needed. PHM 3400 would clearly fit into and enrich this concentration.
